1. What were Jim Crow laws and how were they applied?
2. What were the roots of Martin Luther King, Jr.’s beliefs in nonviolent resistance?

 THINKING CRITICALLY
1. USING YOUR NOTES On your own paper, draw a cluster diagram like the one shown below. Then, fill it in with four events from the civil rights movement that were broadcast on nationwide television and that you find the most compelling.

2. HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE Overall, would you characterize the civil rights struggle as a unified or disunified movement? Explain.

3. INTERPRETING MAPS Look carefully at the map of U.S. school segregation on page 907. What regional differences do you think spurred civil rights activists to target the South before the North?
ALTERNATIVE ASSESSMENT

1. Recall your discussion of the question on page 905:
What rights are worth fighting for?

Choose one participant in the civil rights movement. From that person’s perspective, write a speech in which you evaluate your role in the movement. Consider these questions:
- What civil rights did you work for?
- Why are these rights important?
- How successful were you?
- What were the costs of your struggle?

2. View the American Stories video, “Justice in Montgomery.” Discuss the following questions with a small group of classmates. Then do the activity.
- What role did Jo Ann Gibson Robinson and the African-American women of Montgomery play in the boycott?
- What responsibilities do you think individuals have to stop injustice?

Cooperative Learning Activity You have just seen an account of the Montgomery bus boycott through the eyes of one person, Jo Ann Gibson Robinson. With your group, decide how you would teach people about the boycott—from what perspective and with what materials. Create a multimedia presentation to give to the class.

Use the quotation as well as your knowledge of United States history to answer question 2.

“An illegal attack, an unjust attack, and an immoral attack can be made against you by any one. Just because a person has on a [police] uniform does not give him the right to come and shoot up your neighborhood. No, this is not right, and my suggestion would be that as long as the police department doesn’t use those methods in white neighborhoods, they shouldn’t come . . . and use them in our neighborhood. . . .”
